Acceptable forms of id in oregon

Seeing full sizeDon't Laugh.II a few years ago, Oregon was one of the few states without strict identification requirements for every driver's license transaction. Big surprise: Con men have been taking ads, promising to get illegal immigrants and drivers suspended from other states an Oregon license to take home. Gov Ted Kulongowski and the Legislature ended this monkey business in 2008.Now, as the driver and motor vehicle website states, New driver's license and identification rules apply to everyone every time. (Shouldn't there be a comma in there somewhere?) Here's a quick introduction to what you need the next time you go to the DMV office to renew or get a new license. It's not as hard as it sounds. If you don't have your original birth certificate, a passport or a short living birth check will do (as long as Donald Trump doesn't work behind the DMV counter). Some other government documents are also acceptable. Copying a state or federal tax document; A job record A military document an out-of-state driver's license, licence or ID card and a medical benefits card. You must show proof of your address if you have moved since your last license or this is the first time you have applied for an Oregon license. The comprehensive list of acceptable evidence provides data on the sets, declarations of utility to vehicle registration or a verbal statement from anyone residing in the same residence-Proof of your full legal name if it is different from what is on your previous licence, proof of address or proof of citizenship. (3) The Commission may allow access to areas prohibited by any minor for the purpose of using non-alcoholic alcohol as long as the minor does not stay longer than necessary to carry out his duties. (Oregon Revised Laws 471.482) (4) Establishments may not sell or serve alcohol to anyone who is visibly intoxicated, whether the customer drives or not. Dram Shop Liability Laws Yes Acceptable Forms of ID Oregon law accepts only the following forms of identification alone as proof of age: A valid driver's license with a photo A valid state-issued ID card with photo, name, date of birth, and physical description A valid passport that you can read and understand, including a U.S. passport card. Authentic passports contain at least: Name, nationality, date of birth, gender, photo, issuing country, passport number, expiry date. For U.S. passports, a signature A valid U.S. military ID card. NOTE: Mexican and Canadian driver's licenses are no longer an acceptable piece of identification to be served or sold for alcohol in Oregon. Beware of mail-order identification cards that say resident of the state or personal identification. These cards are made to look like official ids, but they are not. If you can't tell if the card was officially issued by a state, don't accept it. In Oregon, customers without stand-alone identification can prove their age by using two alternative pieces of identification in combination with an olcc age reporting card. Companies are not required to accept this type of identification, and most do not because of the extra work it entails. Check with your manager. The first alternative piece of identification must be an official piece of identification with the person's name, address, date of birth, signature and photo or physical description. Examples of descriptive identity are: a federal employee ID card, a concealed weapons license or a university student body card. The second alternate ID must be the identity of the person further. Examples of support identification are: a credit card, personalized cheques, a letter addressed to the person, etc. If you accept an alternative ID, you must fill out a card OLCC's age group. It is not an option, it is a legal requirement. A birth certificate is an important legal document. It is necessary to apply for other forms of identification (such as a driver's license, social security card or state ID card) that you need to: Work Get a place to live Asking for and receiving public assistance, and removing other barriers.
